BENEDICITE,

OR

SONG OF THE THREE CHILDREN,

PARAPHRASED.

I.

In Earth his footstool, Heav'n his throne,
Be all your praise bestow'd;
Whose hand the beauteous fabrick made,
Whose eye the finish'd World survey'd,
And saw that all was good.

2.

Ye Angels, who with loud acclaim

Admiring view'd the new-born frame,

And hail'd th' eternal King,

Again proclaim your Maker's praise,

Again your thankful voices raise,

And touch the tuneful string.

Praise Him, Ye bright ethereal plains,
Where, in full majesty, he deigns
To fix his awful throne:
Ye Waters that above them roll;
From orb to orb, from pole to pole,
O, make his praises known.

4

Thrones, Dominations, Virtues, Pow'rs,

O, join your joyful fongs with ours,

With us your voices raise:

From age to age extend the lay;

To heav'n's eternal Monarch pay

Hymns of eternal praise.

5.

Celestial Orb, whose pow'rful ray

Opes the glad eyelids of the day,

Whose influence all things own,

Praise him, whose Courts effulgent shine

With light as far excelling thine,

As thine the paler moon.

Ye glitt'ring Planets of the fky,

Whose beams the absent sun supply,

With him the song pursue;

And let himself submissive own,

He borrows from a brighter Sun

The light he lends to You.

7.

Ye Show'rs and Dews, whose moisture shed

Calls into life the op'ning seed,

To him your praises yield,

Whose influence wakes the genial birth,

Drops fatness on the pregnant Earth,

And crowns the laughing field.

8.

Ye Winds, that oft tempestuous sweep

The ruffled surface of the Deep,

With Us confess your God:

See, through the heav'ns, the King of Kings,

Up-borne on your extended wings,

Comes slying all abroad.

Ye Floods of fire, where'er ye flow,

With just submission humbly bow

To his superior pow'r,

Who stops the tempest on its way,

Or bids the slaming deluge stray,

And gives it strength to roar.

10.

Ye Summer's heat, and Winter's cold;

By turns in long fuccession roll'd,

The drooping World to chear,

Praise him who gave the Sun and Moon,

To lead the various Seasons on,

And guide the circling Year.

II.

Ye frosts, that bind the watry plain,
Ye filent Show'rs of fleecy rain,
Pursue the heav'nly theme:
Praise him who sheds the driving snow,
Forbids the harden'd waves to flow,
And stops the rapid stream.

Ye Days and Nights; that fwiftly borne

From Morn to Eve from Eve to Morn,

Alternate glide away;

Praise him, whose never-varying light,

Absent, adds horror to the night,

But present gives the day.

13.

Light! from whose rays all beauty springs;

Darkness! whose wide-expanded wings

Involve the dusky Globe;

Praise him, who, when the heav'ns he spread,

Thick Darkness his pavilion made,

And Light his regal robe.

14.

Praise him, ye Lightnings, as ye fly
Wing'd with hot vengeance through the sky,
And red with wrath divine:
Praise him, ye Clouds, that scatter'd stray,
Or, fix'd by him in close array,
Surround his awful Shrine.

Exalt, O Earth, thy heav'nly King,

Who bids the plants, that from thee fpring,

Renew their annual bloom;

Whose frequent drops of kindly rain

Prolific swell the rip'ning grain,

And bless thy fertile womb.

16.

Ye Mountains, that ambitious rife,

And lift your fummits to the skies,

Revere his awful nod:

Think how Ye once affrighted fled,

While Jordan fought his fountain-head,

And own'd th' approaching God.

17.

Ye Trees, that fill the rural scene,

Ye Flow'rs, that o'er th' enamel'd Green

In native beauty reign,

O, praise the Ruler of the skies,

Whose hand the genial sap supplies,

And clothes the thankful plain.

Bunt

Ye fecret Springs, ye gentle Rills,

That murm'ring rife among the hills,

Or fill the humbler vale;

Praife him at whose almighty nod

The rugged rock dissolving flow'd,

And form'd a springing well.

19.

Praise him, Ye Floods, and Seas profound,

Whose waves the spacious Earth surround,

And roll from shore to shore:

Aw'd by his voice, Ye Seas, subside;

Ye Floods, within your channels glide,

And tremble and adore.

20.

Ye Whales, that stir the boiling Deep,
Or in its dark recesses sleep,
Remote from human eye;
Praise him, by whom Ye all are sed,
Praise him, without whose heav'nly aid
Ye sicken, faint, and die.

Ye Birds, exalt your Maker's name;

Begin, and with th' important theme
Your artless lays improve;

Wake with your songs the rising day,

Let music sound from ev'ry spray,

And fill the vocal Grove.

22.

Praise him, Ye Beasts, that nightly roam

Amid the solitary gloom,

Th' expected prey to seize:

Ye slaves of the laborious plough,

Your stubborn necks submissive bow,

And bend your wearied knees.

23

Ye Sons of Men, his praise display,
Whose vital breath informs your clay,

And gives it pow'r to move:

Ye that in Judah's confines dwell,

From age to age successive tell

The wonders of his Love.

Let Aaron's Race the lay prolong,

And bend attentive down:

Let wonder seize the heav'nly Train,

Pleas'd, while they hear a mortal strain through the So sweet, so like their own.

Nor e'er your praises cease; and de massonne bal

Whose hearts fair Wisdom's ways have known,

And, taught by bleft experience, own a whall mo has said.

That all her paths are peace.

26.

Ye Spirits of the just and good,

That, eager for the bright Abode,

To heav'nly Mansions foar,

O, let your fongs his praise display,

Till Heav'n itself shall melt away,

And Time shall be no more.

Praise him, ye meek and humble Train,
Ye Saints whom his Decrees ordain
The boundless bliss to share:
O, praise him, till Ye take your way
To regions of eternal day,
And reign for ever there.

28.

Let Us, who see th' inclosing fire

Divested of its rage aspire,

And innocently blaze,

(While thus we triumph in the stame,)

Rise, and our Maker's Love proclaim

In hymns of endless praise.

IS enough: the hour is come; Now within the filent tomb Let this mortal frame decay, Mingled with its kindred clay: Since thy mercies, oft of old By thy chosen Seers foretold, Pairtes the foreston valles. ## Balaam's Bleffing on Ifrael.

From Numbers. Chap. XXIV. v. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.

How beauteous are thy tents, O Ifrael!

Fair as the spreading valley's flow'ry pride,

Or gardens rang'd along the river's side.

Like aloes, op'ning to the vernal air,

Rais'd by God's hand, and cherish'd by his care:

Like tow'ring cedars, plant of plants supreme,

Whose roots are moisten'd by the living stream.

The dews of Heav'n shall on his boughs be shed,

And waters nourish his increasing seed.

Ev'n mightiest Kings shall his dominion own,

And Agag bow to his superior throne.

From Egypt erst he came: through paths untrod

Secure he walk'd, conducted by his God.

Strong as the Beast that, on the mountain's height,
Lists the proud horn, and triumphs in his might,
Though thronging Nations join their adverse pow'rs,
Their bones he crushes, and their sless devours;
He meets the winged shaft without a fear,
And shivers in his rage the darted spear.
He couch'd, and couching as a Lion frown'd;
Like the gaunt Lioness he press'd the ground:
Who dares approach him of the sons of Men,
Or rouse the lordly Savage from his den?
Thy name who blesseth, bless for ever He!
But curses rest on him who curseth Thee.

I.

PLac'd on the verge of Youth, my mind
Life's op'ning scene survey'd:

I view'd its ills of various kind,
Afflicted and afraid.

But chief my fear the dangers mov'd,

That Virtue's path inclose:

My heart the wise pursuit approv'd;

But O, what toils oppose!

3.

With doubtful step I tread,

A hostile World its terrors raise,

Its snares delusive spread.

4.

O! how shall I, with heart prepar'd,

Those terrors learn to meet?

How from the thousand snares to guard

My unexperienc'd feet?
